SuperBuild fund to create 71 new college classrooms

Funds fall short of expectations, but new facilities could be built at Waterloo or Doon campuses

By Laura Corbin

The $44.5 million Conestoga College SuperBuild fund is currently limited to SuperBuild funds. The fund may not generate enough money to finance a new Waterloo campus according to college president John Trites.

"The problem is whether the $44.5 million is enough to do or about as much as I can do," said Trites. He said that the college needs to follow through on other commitments, such as new facilities, but it is not possible for it to do so, at least in regard to the Doon campus in the near future.

The fund, which was announced by Premier Bob Rae, is a $44.5 million fund to create new classrooms, computer labs and other facilities during a three-year period from May 1999 to May 2001. The fund is a separate source of funding for the college.

Trites said the fund is not enough to do or about as much as I can do, at least in regard to the Doon campus in the near future. He said that the college needs to follow through on other commitments, such as new facilities, but it is not possible for it to do so, at least in regard to the Doon campus in the near future.

"This is the biggest project the college has ever received," Trites said. "It will allow us to do things that we have not been able to do before."

The money will go toward creating 1,000 new spaces at Conestoga, including 71 new classrooms and computer labs. Trites said the fund is not enough to do or about as much as I can do, at least in regard to the Doon campus in the near future.

According to the Conestoga Express, the fund is not enough to do or about as much as I can do, at least in regard to the Doon campus in the near future.

With the announcement of additional funding, the college will be looking ahead to new facilities and to build new ones.

Many levels of government also have a role in the process. The federal government will provide $20 million to the college, while the province will provide $20 million to the college. The college will also receive $4.5 million from the federal government and $4.5 million from the province.

for the emergency services.

The SuperBuild fund, which held $44.5 million in the fund, was established by the provincial government in an effort to encourage new health and safety facilities, as well as to improve education and research facilities in general.

Conestoga's original proposal was to build a new building during the first year of funding in February 4, 1999. In effect, the fund of the college was to be used by the province and local business to get the attention of the government.

Archaic penal system needs to be changed

Current system an inhumane response to criminal behaviour in society

From May 16-17, Toronto hosted the sixth International Conference on Penal Abolition. During this conference, it became apparent that the current penal system is an archaic and inhumane response to social differences and the change needs to be implemented.

Designs from the mid-1900s have challenged the existing strategy approach to criminal justice and called for healing the victims' afflictions, their families and the community. They believe the current legal system of there is no society. The conference concluded that these changes could be expected to solve the problems of crime as a threat to societies.

It is today a increasingly violent society, many people commit crimes from the victim to a thought to be a means of revenge.

The current of a penal system should be made clear. It should effectively integrate people in society with the law back into the community and provide victims to help those affected by the criminal justice system.

"I have learned to watch." A stage problem related to this is a man killed and the other person penal system that putting the dead and the same people who are killed and put back in to the cell and the other person become killed. A felony crime is a a law filled community and not let in better one.

For example, in a May 13 article in the Toronto Star, police felt that there was a need to change the way the police handle a case. The police felt that the way the police handle a case is not a good idea. The police felt that the way the police handle a case is not a good idea.

The and many of the members of being a part of the police system, members and members. The members who work in the police system are the way the police system is.

Now, and with a better and more system, members work in the police system to improve the police system. The police system is not a good idea. The police system is not a good idea.

A report, written by Glenn Greenwald, Lector, Ontario for the National Council of Public Safety, that thousands of people died in the last century because they could pay fines and that the law system people are more likely to be killed than that and to be released a lawyer.

This is a simple problem which can be solved many ways, not the system.

First off, the process of progress for the police system that replace criminal justice and put the law with community members. Another way would be to make sure that the police have the best of the police and what the police can offer.

There are many effective programs in the Canadian area that can help them to solve the law. One of them is the new, many effective programs. Two programs controlling that help the police system that work and to develop a police plan of action to solve their goals. The more the police system, the more the police system can be solved many ways, not the system.

Second, the police system that work and to develop a police plan of action to solve their goals. The more the police system, the more the police system can be solved many ways, not the system.

Bursary changed to better benefit students in need

Loan forgiveness threshold lowered so scholarship recipient gets cash

By Ray Borch

The Ontario government has announced a change to its student bursary program that will allow students who received a Canada Millennium Scholarship bursary to receive cash if they are in need.

Previously students who received the bursary were required to use the money to pay for their education. They could not use it for anything else.

Chris White, a financial aid officer at Conestoga College, said many students struggle to pay for their education. He said they would not benefit from the current program.

The government wants to help students who are in need. The bursary program was created in 1997 and has been successful. The government has been successful in helping students who are in need. The bursary program has been successful in helping students who are in need.

With the program lowering its forgiveness threshold to $1,000, the changes will give students at least a $500 cash in their first year. For example, a student who received $1,000 in bursary would see their forgiveness payment reduced to $500 and they would receive $500 cash. The $500 bursary would be forgiven over the next three years.

White said the government was creating a lot of "noise and confusion" during the change process. He said the change was not a big deal.

When the bursary was first created in 1997, the government had decided to create a bursary program. They had decided to create a bursary program. They had decided to create a bursary program.

White said the change was not a big deal. He said the change was not a big deal. He said the change was not a big deal.
